

ARIZONA HAPPENINGS.

Frank Sullivan, city editor of the Tucson Citizen, died Sunday after an illness of only twelve hours. He was a native of Chicago.

Petitions from all points in Southern Arizona are being sent to the War Department to have a fort established at Douglas, on the border between Mexico and Arizona.

Chas. M. Shannon has purchased the San Rafael hotel in Tucson paying therefor something over $60,000. The hotel is incomplete and it will require several thousand dollars to complete it.

John Ebbett was found dead in his room in the Head building in Prescott Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock. A stained glass by the bedside and an empty bottle marked "laudanum" told the story in a few words.

Two carloads of infantrymen arrived at Holbrook Monday bound for Fort Apache, Arizona. The troop of cavalry came from Jefferson Barracks, Missouri, and the company of infantry are from the barracks at Columbus, Ohio.

A new lodge of Knights of Pythias was instituted at Douglas last week starting out with one hundred members. The lodge was installed by a team from Bisbee who went down on a special train; accompanied by the Copper Queen Band.

Maricopa county pays $7.50 per month per patient, for the care of its indigent sick. Cochise county made an offer of $11.50 per patient and $8 for the burial of each one who died, to the Maricopa county contractor but the latter declines the offer.

Tucson hopes to get a station of the National University at Washington. The station is for the study of desert flora, and $8,000 has been appropriated for the purpose. Representatives of the institution are conferring with the Tucson board of trade.

Ben Bartlett, an Arizona pioneer, passed away in Tucson this week. He came to the territory in 1870, and 1875 located the ground on which the now famous Congress mine is located, and sold it for $150. He has been about Tombstone the past twenty years.

Nogales will have the distinction of having the first cavalry troop in Arizona. It is now being organized, and will be named after Governor Brodie. The leading young men of the town are interested in the organization, and it is starting out with a large membership.

At his preliminary examination held in Douglas last week, Ranger Webb was held to answer to the grand jury on a charge of murder for killing Lon Bass at Douglas. His bond was fixed at $1000. Testimony was introduced to show that Bass was unarmed, at the time of the killing.

Several sticks of giant powder exploded while thawing out at the Minnesota-Connor last Saturday but fortunately no one was injured, although Tom Jenkins was knocked unconscious by the shock. When he came to he saw Steve Smith on the hill above him with a saw in his hand and remarked: "What made Steve shoot me; I never did anything to him in my life."—Mohave Miner.

The P. & E. railroad company will have a large grading force at work on the first of March at the Buttes, sixteen miles east of Florence. The heaviest work on the line will be encountered between the Buttes and Dudleyville, easterly from there. It is most encouraging to see the work on this road progressing so satisfactorily, and so near the county seat.—Florence Blade.

E. D. Treadwell, general manager for the Logan interests in this county was in Jerome, Monday, and while here went to the Brookshire. The Brookshire force has been reduced greatly the last few weeks, because of trouble with an air compressor; this is being repaired and work will be resumed immediately on its completion. Mr. Treadwell is more than pleased with the company's prospects on the other side of the mountain and feels assured of making a mine of some of their properties there.—News.

A section of new prison wall on the west side collapsed last Monday afternoon, while a number of convicts were at work building up the adobe part, and thousands of tons of rock, sand, adobe, etc., tumbled down into the street a shapeless mass. One of the prisoners went down with the wall, but was unhurt. The piece of wall that gave way was about fifty feet in length and fully fifty feet high, being commenced low down on the slope of the hill and built up to a level with the prison grounds. On top of the stone wall an adobe extension was partly constructed when the whole mass fell. The work of clearing away the mass of rock and debris in preparation of rebuilding the wall was begun at once. Yuma Sentinel.

Better Than Gold.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H. "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by all druggists.
